

Case Study

Helping businesses transform

David Galea, Chief Executive Officer at BEAT Limited – a specialist firm providing integrated business transformation solutions – talks to Sarah Micallef about the firm's origins, service offering and what makes BEAT stand out in a competitive market.

BEAT stands for Business Transformation. It's a specialist firm providing integrated business transformation solutions – talks to Sarah Micallef about the firm's origins, service offering and what makes BEAT stand out in a competitive market.

"We have sought to become the leader in Malta in the provision of business transformation solutions."

Leading player in the business transformation market. Through the BEAT solution, it provides an end-to-end solution for businesses. The BEAT solution is a comprehensive suite of services that covers all aspects of business transformation, from strategy and change management to implementation and ongoing support.

BUSINESS | April 1 | Autumn 2017

31

Case Study

"One rarely gets a second chance at turning a business around – our job is to help clients get it right the first time."

Specialist BEAT's project evaluation services and expertise at the outset of their clients' strategy development and strategic-led, integrated business strategy. Their success stems from the unique type of its services, from strategic analysis, to identifying the people, financial resources and financial flexibility as well as its core innovation for CEO leaders.

Ready for my project analysis BEAT was on hand to guide and support clients' implementation measures to address the challenges presented by all their operations. Whether our clients require focus on support in operational and strategic change or to develop a strategic approach to their project and programme transitions, we will deliver our experience and expertise to ensure that their objectives are met. Our approach is to ensure that their objectives are met. Our approach is to ensure that their objectives are met. Our approach is to ensure that their objectives are met.

Specialist BEAT's project evaluation services and expertise at the outset of their clients' strategy development and strategic-led, integrated business strategy. Their success stems from the unique type of its services, from strategic analysis, to identifying the people, financial resources and financial flexibility as well as its core innovation for CEO leaders.

Ready for my project analysis BEAT was on hand to guide and support clients' implementation measures to address the challenges presented by all their operations. Whether our clients require focus on support in operational and strategic change or to develop a strategic approach to their project and programme transitions, we will deliver our experience and expertise to ensure that their objectives are met. Our approach is to ensure that their objectives are met. Our approach is to ensure that their objectives are met.

Specialist BEAT's project evaluation services and expertise at the outset of their clients' strategy development and strategic-led, integrated business strategy. Their success stems from the unique type of its services, from strategic analysis, to identifying the people, financial resources and financial flexibility as well as its core innovation for CEO leaders.

Ready for my project analysis BEAT was on hand to guide and support clients' implementation measures to address the challenges presented by all their operations. Whether our clients require focus on support in operational and strategic change or to

32

BUSINESS | April 1 | Autumn 2017